"LET JUSTICE BE DONE, THOUGH THE HEAVENS SHOULD FALL."

About three weeks ago, four or five of the saloon keepers of this town were returned (by some person or persons, to us as yet unknown), for selling liquor without license, on Sunday and to men of intemperate habits. It created, for the time being quite a sensation. Some men said it was right, others again alleged it was wrong. Debates sprung up on all the street corners, in all the stores and of course in all the saloons. The prosecutor, in all these debates was most soundly berated and generally had the majority against him. Finally about one week ago a man by the name of Hollingshead, returned four or five more—taking in the Brockerhoff House, the Garman House and others.

Now, we want it distinctly understood, that we are in favor of temperance principles and deprecate the evil of intemperance as much as any other person: yet we are constrained to the belief that this unprincipled and wholesale returning of our landlords and liquor dealers is unjust, unkind and antichristian. It is no pleasant thing to put men to jail, who have engaged in a business, made legal and respectable by the assembled wisdom of our State Legislature. The License laws of this State are very strict, if not to say severe, and it is almost impossible, for any man to engage in the sale of alcoholic liquors without daily violating the law. Men go into this business, with their eyes open knowing the law and knowing the risks they must run.

If the law was strictly enforced, no man could engage in this traffic for a single week. Yet, whose business is it to return men who are engaged in this traffic and who violate the law? Should it not be done by the father, mother or friend who is injured in their family relations? Is it right to put spies upon these men to watch them in every transaction, when these spies, perhaps, are the most degraded creatures in the whole country? Man who could not enter one of these places, alone, and get a single drop of the sparkling liquor. We say again, a father, mother or any other person, feeling themselves injured by the sale of intoxicating liquors to their minor children, intemperate husbands, or others, would have a perfect right to complain, and the whole community would say, amen, to the righteous judgment, providing they would first notify the dealer, not to sell to the persons in question.

"Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you" is the golden rule. Would you feel that a man was doing his duty as a christian if he placed a man on your tracks to hound your every action, good, bad or indifferent? If it is wrong to place spies upon your actions, is it not equally wrong to practice the same thing upon your neighbor? It is the duty of the christian to reform men, not to persecute them. Is it not persecution of the worst kind to have a man of no character or standing in the community, employed (we say employed for we believe this is the truth in the cases in point) to return men for violating the laws when this same prosecutor could not upon his oath say that he had ever seen these men commit the crime for which he returned them? Does such conduct benefit the community? Will it improve the morals of the town? Will it in any way tend to the reformation of the persons punished, or persecuted? If not, then, it is all wrong and these hireling busy-bodies should be driven from the community. They should have no countenance, having no regard for their oath, and not having the fear of God and the well-being of their fellow man before their eyes.

We were led to these remarks, first, in justice to those men who we deem persecuted. We say persecuted because they were not returned by the proper men or with the proper motive. And second, because we heard a loud mouthed copperhead declare that it was all the work of the Republican party. To this we file our objection. The Republican party is a great and patriotic party, but it must not be made the scape goat to bear the sins of every individual, be he blackguard, gentleman, or scalawag. We are opposed to political temperance. We are opposed to committing the Republican party to this question. We have a great, a mighty State and national work to do. This is the legitimate work of the Republican party. The temperance reform belongs to the churches, and moral suasion and the grace of God are the best weapons, for them to wield in their great and glorious work. We believe in no third party movement, for such an organization would but defeat the cause in question. It is impossible to legislate religion into people and it is just as impossible to make men sober, moral or industrious by legislation. And in a country like ours where every man has a right, a Constitutional right, to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience, no such legislation can prevail, or accomplish any good. But we have wnadered from our subject and in conclusion we would say, in the liquor cases above referred to, if we were on the Grand jury we would ignore every case, making the prosecutor pay the cost.

A DEMOCRATIC CONFESSION OF JUDGMENT.

The Democratic press has constantly and persistently denied the commission of Kuklux outrages in the South and declared all reports of such outrages radical falsifications. To all such, we say, read the following confession from the message of Governor Stevenson of Kentucky, a sound Kentucky Democrat, and then close your mouths forever on the Kuklux question. He says:—

"It becomes my duty to call your attention to the necessity of prompt and more stringent legislation for the more perfect preservation of law and order. While in the main there is, perhaps, as much security for life and property in Kentucky as in the adjacent States, it can not be disguised that since the close of the war, and as a kind of outgrowth of it, lawlessness has, to a greater degree than ever before, displayed itself everywhere. During and immediately following the war, Kentucky, from its geographical position as a border State, was subjected to a more severe ordeal from this cause than her neighbors; and accordingly, during the first years of my administration, lawlessness, in some portions of the Commonwealth, manifested itself in formidable organizations, which defied the local authority and perpetrated deeds of open violence under pretext of regulating order and punishing crime. By the use of the militia at my command, and the exhibition of my firm purpose to suppress such practices at all hazards, tranquility was restored, and there has not been, for some time, in the localities which had suffered from such lawlessness, any demonstrations having the semblance of organized resistance to the law. Still, in various portions of the State, there have been committed, by lawless persons, acting in bodies, generally under cover of night, and sometimes in disguise, acts of violence upon individuals either wholly innocent of offence or only subjects of criminal prosecution through the courts, most of which class of violators of the law have escaped detection and punishment.

This admission from a border-State Governor must forever put beyond the possibility of refutation many reported crimes, black as the midnight that covered them, committed by that organization. But Northern Democrats doubtless will not the less cease either to deny all or to stamp all with the signet of the modern Star Chamber, Southern chivalry.

IMPORTANT TO SOLDIERS.

Some time during the latter part of December, says the Harrisburg Telegraph, a resolution was presented in the House of Representatives at Washington, and referred to the Committee on Public Lands authorizing that committee to take into consideration and report upon the expediency of granting to each soldier who served 90 days or more in the army during the war 160, acres of land without occupancy. Heretofore, as is well understood, any soldier or citizen might take up under the "Homestead Act' 160 acres and obtain a clear title in it after occupancy five years. And a soldier, by a late act of Congress, has the right to locate his land on alternate sections along railroads where there is public land undisposed of. This privilege will extend only until the first day of July next. Should the resolution become a law, every soldier may have 160 acres of land located and obtain a title in fee in the land without the inconvenience of settling and remaining upon it for five years.

The Beaver Falls Cutlery Company sent to the Hon John Scott, United States Senator from this State, several fine specimens of their manufacture, which drew from him the following acknowledgement: "The labor and skill which can turn out such highly finished products deserve all the encouragement and protection which legislation can properly afford them, and to give such encouragement and protection by all efforts I can make, I shall deem my duty while in public life."

ABOUT AMNESTY.

We have never attempted, says the New York Tribune, to hurry Congress in the matter of Amnesty. Though our own convictions that Universal Amnesty is alike magnanimous and politic have never been disguised, we comprehend the considerations adverse to it and freely admit their force. We know that the spirit which drove the South into a foolish, wanton rebellion is still wide-spread and rampant; we know that there are thousands of ex-Rebels so embittered by their unexpected and utter discomfiture that they cannot appreciate generosity, and would confound kindness with weakness, if they did not misinterpret it as cowardice. We know that that most unwise, malignant organization popularly known as Ku-Klux, still infests and disquets portions of the South, inflicting injuries and outrages on scattered Blacks and other defenseless Unionists, and that, in spite of the best efforts of Congress and the Executive, thousands of negroes are coerced into voting the ticket of their persecutors or overawed into not voting at all. In short, we feel and admit that a good case can be made for postponing Universal Amnesty, which, without at all shaking our conviction of its justice and wisdom, would impel millions to demand and vote for a postponement of this measure of pacification. If, therefore, Congress shall vote down such Amnesty, we shall regret rather than condemn the decision.

But, whenever Amnesty shall be deemed timely, we entreat that it be made thorough. A dozen picayune Amnesty bills will do much to inflame and diffuse Southern discontent, nothing to allay it. An act of Amnesty with large exceptions will offend two classes —1. Those whom it relieves of disabilities; 2. Those whom it leaves under the ban. The former will feel insulted as by an intimation that they are of no account; the latter will complain that they are still proscribed when thousands less deserving of clemency have been forgiven. And, from their point of view, each class will be clearly right.

We object to a restricted Amnesty that it tends to the creation of an aristocracy at the South—an aristocracy, founded not on wisdom, nor on merit, but on prominence in the late Rebellion. Those exempted from the general oblivion of past offenses will plume themselves upon the fact as a tribute to their ability or their efficiency in the Rebel service; they will be admired, deferred to, and accorded social distinction and political influence. The fact that they are not eligible to office will enable them to indicate the men to be chosen. They are in fact neither better nor worse than many others; but their proscription, when they shall have been so restricted in number that each of them is known and marked, will clothe them with a peculiar and unwholesome power.

It does seem to us that the case of Jefferson Davis ought ere this to have commended its moral even to the most ordinary comprehension. Had he been shot, as, upon the verdict of a court-martial, he lawfully might have been, within three days of his capture, he would have been enshrined in a million hearts forever, and his name and deeds would have been a potent spell for generations. So long as he was kept in prison, he was the uncrowned king of millions, to whom his lightest wish was law, his word the end of controversy. A sentiment of honor held every Confederate loyal to him so long as he remained in duress for an offense common to him and to them. Had he been kept for ten years a prisoner of state, he would have been to the last the chief of a crushed but indomitable party whereof fidelity to their suffering head was the point of honor. But his liberation was also theirs. When he walked out of that Richmond Court-house a free man, he was a dethroned monarch, and such he has remained. He goes to Europe and returns, stops a few days in New York or Baltimore, looks vigilantly after the interests of his life insurance company or neglects them, without exciting a ripple of curiosity. A few intense Rebels may still feel constrained to pay him some personal attention, and even homage; but he no longer fills the eye of the public or is regarded by millions with as much solicitude as Weston the walker or Mace the pugilist.

Shall wisdom still cry and no man regard her monitions? Do let us comprehend that the real question is not whether certain prominent Rebels shall or shall not be further punished for their causeless war upon the Union, but whether we shall not enable them to strut their little hour as demi-gods, exalted in the views of their public by the short-sighted though natural resentment of Republicans, whose vengeful wrath will not let them see that, if the object were to divest these men of capacity to do mischief, it would be secured by amnesty, not proscription, and that, if the end sought be vengeance and just retribution, it is utterly defeated by a policy which exalts its objects not only in their own estimation, but also in that of their neighbors and cherished friends.

SURVEYOR GENERAL.

We give in another column a communication from a tried and true Republican, recommending William P. Wilson, Esq., of Centre county for nomination by the next Republican State Convention as the candidate of the party for Surveyor General. We cordially endorse the recommendation of our correspondent. Mr. Wilson is, in all respects, morally, intellectually and politically, a good man. His character as a citizen is beyond reproach; his ability is acknowledged; and as a Republican he is sound, firm and always reliable. These qualities are, of themselves, formidable supports. But there is another consideration which, we think, must add considerably to their weight, when the claims of aspirants come to be considered in convention. Mr. Wilson is a citizen of one of the Republican minority counties and of a district which has not, of late at least, received much consideration from the party in respect to State offices. This fact must tell in favor of Mr. Wilson, and when the time arrives for the nomination of a State ticket we have no doubt that the claims of the man and the district will receive the consideration to which they are entitled.

By reference to another column it will be seen that we have published the same communication and take this occasion to say that we most fully endorse all the Huntingdon correspondent and the Editor of the Telegraph say of our fellow townsman Wm. P. Wilson, Esq. The arguments adduced in the above editorial by Mr. Bergner, in favor of the nomination of Mr. Wilson to the office of Surveyor General, are clear and powerful, and the estimate he places upon the character and ability of Mr. Wilson are just and truthful, to all of which, hundreds, aye thousands of people in Centre county and in the State, will bear testimony.

We therefore nail to our mast head the name of Wm. P. Wilson, Esq., as our first choice for Surveyor General and assure the Republicans of the State, if they nominate and elect him to said office they will have an able, kind affable and obliging officer.

Workingmen.—The census returns of Philadelphia show that 119,532 persons are directly afforded employment by the manufacturing establishments of that city; also, that the sum of $52,236,026 is paid in yearly wages to such employees, and that the total value of materials used in manufactories here is $132,618,873.—State Journal.

We call the attention of the workingmen of Central Pennsylvania to the above facts and figures, and ask you in all candor, how can you look with any degree of allowance of sympathy upon the Democratic party, whose advocacy of free, and the adoption of their English free trade policy in this country would break down not only the manufacturing establishments of Philadelphia, but those of the whole United States, and throw out of employment over two millions of laboring men. Voters of Pennsylvania are you in favor of free trade? If you are, vote the Democratic ticket, and if you bring idleness and starvation upon yourselves by so doing, the fault will not be ours. Remember we warned you in time.

SURVEYOR GENERAL.

Huntingdon, Pa., Jan. 11, 1871.

Geo. Bergner, Esq., Editor Telegraph:

Dear Sir—In contemplating the political prospects of the Republican party in Pennsylvania, at this time, and in view of the approaching contest in 1871, permit me to suggest that the time has come when it is our duty to prepare to meet the enemy and to organize victory. If "Old Mother" Huntingdon has in the past canvass, fallen short, I can assure you, and through the columns of your widely circulated journal a vast number of our friends, that we here propose to let the dead past faction of our adherents bury their dead and take a new departure.

No time is so auspicious as now to perfect the unity, consolidate the strength and make sure the success of our people next fall. Our general and our local difficulties are as completely settled as ever such political differences in a political party can be. They have cost us much here and everywhere; but the lesson will bear fruit, and we will, next time, be ourselves again and atone for past follies.

Our first duty now is to endeavor to get a ticket that cannot be assailed by the enemy and that will revive no old jealousies or factious quarrels. As you know we lost our two Senators last year—and we lost them by the dissensions and apathy of our own men—not because Democracy had gathered strength; but because Republicans had sown weakness.

One of the candidates for Senator, Wm. P. Wilson, Esq., of Centre county, most certainly should have been triumphantly elected, as well as the whole of our ticket. Mr. Wilson led our ticket in every county except this, and even in this year of disaster, polled a larger majority in his own home, Bellefonte, and gained more largely in his own county than any predecessor of the Republican ticket there.

As Huntingdon county did not, because of troubles amongst ourselves, and not on account of the weakness of the candidates, fulfill her duties to the cause, we now propose both to vindicate ourselves and Wm. P. Wilson, Esq., by securing, if we can, his nomination and election this year to the office of Surveyor General of the Commonwealth, now so ably filled by Col. Campbell, and in support of this motion I, as well as my Republican friends, assign these reasons:

First—Mr. Wilson is not identified with any faction or clique. His strength at home is greater than any of his contemporaries, not only in Centre county, but throughout the district, and wherever he is known. His character as a citizen and as a man of integrity, good morals and ability is unquestioned, and cannot be assailed.

Second—His qualifications for the office are equally undoubted. His devotion to the principles which are the glory of the party, his past labors for its success, and his unwavering support of its men and measures, alike in success and in defeat, point him out as the most available candidate for the post for which we name him.

Whether it would be to his personal interest to accept the office, or not, I feel certain he would consent to do so, if convinced he could, thereby, serve or strengthen the cause we all heartily hope to make triumphant. Therefore, we ask our friends to place Wm. P. Wilson, Esq., on our ticket for Surveyor General.

Very respectfully; &c.,

Harmony.

What our Contemporaries say of the Bellefonte Republican—

The form of the "Bellefonte Republican" has been changed to a quarto. It looks decidedly neat and pretty and besides this, is one of the most ably conducted papers in the country. We are glad to know that it is in so prosperous a condition.—Muncy Luminary.

The "Freeburg Courier," "Bloomfield Times," "Lewistown True Democrat" and "Bellefonte Republican" reached us last week enlarged and otherwise improved in appearance. The latter is now an eight page paper and very neatly gotten up. We are pleased to witness this evidence of prosperity on the part of our contemporaries.—Middleburg Post.

The "Republican," Bellefonte, Pa., comes to us in a new form and new dress, and the publishers say: "It is our intention to make it one of the prettiest, strongest, spiciest and best country papers in the State." They have certainly made a good commencement.—Advertisers Gazette, N. Y.

The Harrisburg State Journal, in a forcible article on what should be the course of the Republicans in our Legislature to insure the general welfare and approval of their constituents, says:

But all this can only be accomplished according to the degree in which our servants meet popular demands. There must be no mistakes, and, above all, there must be no blunders committed by the Republicans in the Legislature. There must be no wasting of public money, no defiance of the public will, no ignoring of great principles. We want more legislation for the mass of men and less grants of special power to privileged orders.

The Weekly Progress, published at South Bethlehem, Pa., has reached its 45th number. It is a good sized paper and conducted with more than ordinary ability.

THE HEATHEN CHINEE.

BY F. BRET HARTE.

Which I wish to remark—
And my language is plain—
That for ways that are dark,
And for tricks that are vain,
The heathen Chinee is peculiar,
Which the same I would rise to explain.

Ah Sin was his name:
And I shall not deny,
In regard to the same,
What that name might imply.
But his smile it was pensive and child-like,
As I frequent remarked to Bill Nye.

It was August the third,
And quite soft was the skies;
Which it might be inferred
That Ah Sin was likewise;
Yet he played that same day upon William
And me in a way I despise.

Which we had a small game,
And Ah Sin took a hand;
It was Euchre. The same
He did not understand;
But he smiled as he sat by the table,
With the smile that was childlike and bland.

Yet the cards they were stocked
In a way that I grieve,
And my feelings were shocked
At the state of Nye's sleeve,
Which was stuffed full of aces and bowers,
And the same with intent to deceive.

But the hands that were played
By that heathen Chinee,
And the points that he made
Were quite frightful to see—
Till at last he put down a right bower,
Which the same Nye had dealt unto me.

Then I looked up at Nye,
And he gazed upon me;
And he rose with a sigh,
And said, "Can this be?
We are ruined by Chinese cheap labor"—
And he went for that heathen Chinee.

In the scene that ensued
I did not take a hand,
But the floor it was strewed
Like the leaves on the strand
With the cards that Ah Sin had been hiding
In the game "he did not understand."

In his sleeves, which were long,
He had twenty-four jacks—
Which was coming it strong,
Yet I state but the facts;
And we found on his nails, which were taper,
What is frequent in tapers—that's wax.

Which is why I remark,
And my language is plain,
That for ways that are dark,
And for tricks that are vain,
The heathen Chinee is peculiar—
Which the same I am free to maintain.

The Trade of 1870.

The year just closed has been marked by great quietude in many departments of trade; but on the whole our development has been sure and steady, if not in all respects satisfactory. We shall not for a long time fully recover from the burthens of our late civil war, but each year diminishes the debt, while it materially lessens the extravagance, overproduction and overtrading consequent upon those flush times. The resources of the entire country were never more ample than now, but in too many cases capital has been diverted from its legitimate channels to be employed in enterprises promising great speculative returns. Confidence, not yet fully restored, has been very slow in affording proper encouragement to labor, and the effect is seen in a restricted sphere of action for our leading manufacturing and commercial pursuits.

The chief event of the year abroad was the commencement of the Franco-Prussian war, which still rages with undiminished fury. What the end may be we can only conjecture, but we feel called upon to deplore the immense suffering, the loss of trade, and the general misery consequent upon the situation of the inhabitants of both countries. The demand the war has made upon the people to supply the ranks with soldiers has somewhat restricted emigration to our shores from the Continent. With the return of peace we may reasonably expect increased arrivals of immigrants, and also large amounts of foreign capital, attracted to our land by the better inducements held out to their employment than are obtained in the old world.

The prices of many foreign goods have been enhanced by the demoralization that attended the withdrawal of so many thousands of people from being producers to take their place in the ranks of consumers. All kinds of French or German goods, curtailed in production by these means, are in very limited supply, and our merchants have greatly reduced stocks to offer their customers.

In domestic merchandize the shrinkage in value has gone forward quite steadily as may be seen by comparing the present with rates prevailing twelve months ago. The business in dry goods has been characterized by considerable depression and unsteadiness; but notwithstanding the general dullness there have been few failures among jobbers or commission merchants. Stocks have been comparatively small, the demand mostly to supply immediate wants, and the profits on many descriptions of goods fairly remunerative. The mild Winter has greatly restricted the sale of woolen fabrics, and a considerable surplus will necessarily be carried over to another season.

In hardware there has been a moderate trade, but the production has also been moderate, and the profits, although small, have been quite equal to the average results in other departments of business.

In drugs there has been some speculative movement in various leading articles, but in the main business has been of a healthy character, and subject to less fluctuations than during the previous year.

The shoe trade appears to have suffered considerably from both strikes and failures; but with light stocks, and a very limited present production, and a more general concert of action on the part of manufacturers and jobbers, it is to be hoped that this trade, during the present year, will retrieve the losses and mistakes of the past.

The basis of all our prosperity is derived from our vast agricultural interests and these are generally prosperous and rapidly extending in every direction. New railroads are constantly opening up new avenues of trade, both at the South and the West and the proofs of our permanent prosperity are evident to the most superficial observer.

As a nation we cannot long suffer from inaction as is made manifest by the new outlets, which are every year opened to emigration and commerce, the vast extent of our productive acres with all their wonderful supplies of mineral wealth, and the great intelligence, industry, and perseverance of our entire people.—N. Y. Mercantile Journal.

A Bank for Losings.

On the chief thoroughfare of this city I often pass a stately Savings Bank, built of freestone, and I see groups of working people going in to deposit their hard-earned money. Some are mechanics, some are domestics, some are poor widows laying by a few dollars for their fatherless children.

But on the same street the tempter has opened more than one Bank of Losings. In some parts of the city there is one on nearly every corner. In almost every rural hamlet, too, is there a similar institution. New York city contains six thousand of them.

In each of those Banks for Losings is a counter, on which old men and young, and even some wretched women, lay down their deposits, in either paper or coin. The only interest that is paid on deposits is in redness of eyes, and foulness of breath, and remorse of conscience. Every one who makes a deposit gains a loss. One man goes into the bank with a full pocket, and comes out empty.—Another goes in with a good character, and comes out with the word drunk written on his bloated countenance. I have even seen a mechanic enter in a bran new coat, and coming away again as if the mice had been nibbling at his elbows.

I have known a young clerk to leave his "situation" behind him in one of the Devil's Banks of Losings. Several prosperous tradesmen have lost all their business there. Church members have been known to reel out from these seductive haunts trying to walk straight, but backsliding at every step. What is worst of all, thousands of people go in there and lose their immortal souls! If the cashiers of these institutions were honest, they would post on the door some such notice as this:—"Bank of Losings. Open at all hours. Nothing taken in but good money. Nothing is paid out but disgrace and disease, and degradation and death. An extra dividend of delerium tremens will be given to old depositors. A free pass to predition given to those who pay well at the counter; also, tickets to Greenwood and other cemeteries, entitling the holder to a Drunkard's Grave! All the children of Depositors sent without charge to the orphan asylum or the alms-house."

Young men! Beware of the Bank for Losings. Some bait their depositors with champagne some with ale and bourbon; some with a pack of cards; and others with a billiard-table. If you wish to keep character—keep out!

Young ladies, never touch the hand that touches the wine-glass! Never wear the name of a man who is enrolled on the deposit list of the Devil's Bank.—Never lean on the arm that leans on the bar-room counter. It will be a rotten support.

The best Savings Bank for a young man's money is a total abstinence pledge. The best Savings Bank for his time is honest industry and a good book. The best Savings Bank for his affections is a true woman's heart. The best Savings Bank for his soul is a faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

But if you do not want your greenbacks turned into black eyes and red noses; if you don't want your pocket emptied, and your character worm-eaten and your soul drugged with the poisons of the pit then keep outside of the "National Brandy Bank for Losings."—Rev. T. L. Cuyler, D. D.

Gleanings.

Act uprightly and fearlessly, and you may defy the devil and all his works.

Let the bent of thy thoughts be to mend thyself, rather than the world.

Many have been victorious in great temptations, and ruined by little ones.

Life becomes useless and insipid when we have no longer either friends or enemies.

Self-love is at once the most delicate and the most tenacious of our sentiments; a mere breath will wound it, but nothing on earth can kill it.

The only chapter in the Bible (the last chapter of Proverbs) written by a woman (the mother of King Lemuel) contains a plea for woman's wages: "Give her the fruit of her hand, and let her own works praise her in the gates."

Savage Customs.

The following is the manner in which the natives about Sydney used to procure their wives: "The poor wretch is stolen, upon in the absence of her protectors. Being first stupefied with blows, inflicted with clubs or wooden swords on the head, back and shoulders, every one of which is followed by a stream of blood; she is then dragged through the woods by one arm, with a perseverance and violence that it might be supposed would displace it from its socket. The lover, or rather the ravisher, is regardless of the stones or kroken pieces of trees which may lie in his route, being anxious only to convey his prize in safety to his own party, when a scene ensues too shocking to relate. This outrage is not resented by the relations of the female, who only retaliate by a similar outrage when they find an opportunity. This is so constantly the practice among them, that even the children make it a play-game or exercise."

The Feejeeans believe that "as they die, such will be their condition in another world; hence their desire to escape extreme infirmity." The way to Mbulu is long and difficult; many always perish, and no diseased or infirm person could succeed in surmounting all the dangers of the road. Hence, as soon as a man feels the approach of old age, he notifies to his children that it is time for him to die. If he neglects to do so, the children after awhile take the matter into their own hands. A family consultation is held, a day is appointed, and the grave dug. The aged person has his choice of being strangled or buried alive. Mr. Hunt gives the following striking description of such a ceremony once witnessed by him; "A young man came to him and invited him to attend his mother's funeral, which was just going to take place.—Mr. Hunt accepted the invitation and joined the procession, but, surprised to see no corpse, he made inquiries, when the young man pointed out his mother, who was walking along with them as gay and lively as any of those present, and apparently as much pleased. Mr. Hunt expressed his surprise to the young man, and asked how he could deceive him so much by saying that his mother was dead, when she was alive and well. He said, in reply, that they made her deathfast, and were now going to bury her, that she was old; that his brother and himself had thought she had lived long enough.

"He added that it was from love for his mother that he had done so; that, in consequence of the same love, they were now going to bury her, and none but themselves could or ought to do such a sacred office! Mr. Hunt did all in his power to prevent so diabolical an act; but the only reply he received was, that she was their mother, and they were her children, and they ought to put her to death. On reaching the grave the mother sat down, when they all, including children, grandchildren, relations and friends, took an affectionate leave of her. A rope, made of twisted tapa, was then passed twice around her neck by her sons, who took hold of it and strangled her; after which she was put in her grave."

"A Good Joke on Schnyder."

As a gentleman from New York was taking a glass of wine at the St. Louis, corner of Freeman and Hopkind street, in Cincinnati, about three weeks ago, he observed at another table, seated with several others, a German who seemed uneasy and anxious, as if there might have been Franco-Prussia disagreement between his beer and himself. Presently in ran a little girl, her face radiant with smiles, exclaiming:

"Oh, father, we've got a little poy at home!

"Dat is goot," said the Dutchman, as the anxiety disappeared from his countenance; "fill up der glasses."

Not many minutes elapsed before in rushed the little girl again with the announcement:

"Oh, father, we've got two little poys at home!"

The Dutchman looked a good deal astonished and not altogether gratified at this little family redundancy, but rising at length to the magnitude of the occasion he said;

Veil, den dat is also good. Fill up der glasses."

In a few minutes again appeared the radient messenger, with the astounding proclamation:

"Oh, father, we've got three little poys at home!"

This was too much even for Teutonic impassibility. There was no further call for glasses.

"Vel den," says he, "I goes up dere and I stops der whole tam pisiness!"

The cattle disease which is causing some excitement in New York and Massachusetts, called by scientific men Epizootic Aptha, (it must be a terrible disease, judging from the name,) is far from being a new one, as was at first supposed. It made its appearance in England some thirty years past, creating great alarm. It first broke out, at that time, in Austria and Hungary, and traveling westward came to England. In 1869 it again visited the latter island. It is said to be not very dangerous, though almost impossible to be kept from spreading.

Why Lectures are Dying Out.

From all parts of the country, observes the Springfield Republican, come indications that the lecture system, that peculiar product of American life and society, is losing ground and money at a rate which, continued a few years, will either work in it a radical change, or bring it to a not altogether untimely end. The treasurers and stewards of the numerous associations and lyceums sprinkled throughout the State, find the results of their lecture course, this season, are on the wrong side of the ledger, and that the platform eloquence for which they have been wont to find brisk and profitable demand, is likely to prove, for this time, a very costly commodity.

A few of the old masters remain, but the lecturers of the new school seem to have flooded the market with their poorer literary wares, and spoiled the demand for all kinds alike. Public events in our own country no longer afford that opportunity for cheap and easy rhetorical displays which the late war supplied; the business energies of the nation will only turn aside for higher and better amusement than the public lecture offers, and the demand for popular instruction is too thoroughly diverse and distinct to be satisfied with any wholesale dispensation to audiences of thousands.

The indications that the popularity of the lecture system is waning, are, therefore, rather favorably and desirable than the contrary. They give encouragement that the day of shallow culture, of feeble pedantry and vulgar amusement, is passing, and that the popular demand is for something higher, broader, and more valuable. The means for instruction were never so abundant and easily accessible as at the present time, and it is a significant tribute to the intelligence and good sense of our people, that they prefer to utilize and improve them rather than waste time and money on lecturers who give them little that is new or earnest, and, perhaps, nothing that is suggestive or elevating. The decadence of any institution, in this country, is generally a sure sign that its mission is accomplished, and that it is wanted no longer. The principle holds equally good with the lecture system.

The Labors of a Lady Preacher.

Mrs. Van Cott, the well known Methodist lady preacher, in her farewell address at Springfield, gave the following account of her labors and their results. She commences her labors in Fond Lac, Wisconsin, Saturday evening.

She came to Chicopee Falls fifteen months ago, but not until ten months since has she ever kept any record of her work, only from memory. At that time, having preached three years as an Evangelist, she commenced a daily record, and the figures below only cover that length of time. In this ten months, she has preached 341 sermons, held 296 prayer meetings, 20 love feasts, has lectured 13 times, traveled 5,918 miles, has written 543 letters, and has stood up in meeting, preaching and talking 1,421 hours. In this time 2,225 persons have presented themselves at the alter for prayers, of which number 1,500 have joined the Methodist church on probation. How many of the balance have been converted and joined other churches, she has no means of knowing; but those joining the Methodist church she has been enabled to keep track of through the preachers. Her compensation has been, for the hours' work since she has came to New England; the first three months, 71¼ cents per hour, the next five, 102½ cents, and since that time about two dollars an hour. It is very doubtful whether the whole thirty-nine ministers who voted against recommending this lady to the churches as an Evangelist, at the last conference, can show half as much accomplished through their instrumentality in the same length of time.

Guard Against Vulgarity.

We especially commend the following extract to the thoughtful study of the young. Nothing is so disgusting and repugnant to the feelings of the noble and good as to hear the young, or even the old, use profane, low, or vulgar language. The young of our towns are particularly guilty of profanity. In our day it seems the "boy" does not feel himself a "man" unless he can excel in this great sin. "We would guard the young against the use of every word that is not strictly proper. Use no profane expression—allude to no sentence that will put to blush the most sensitive. You know not the tendency of habitually using indecent and profane language. It may never be obliterated from your heart. When you grow up you will find at your tongue's end some expression which you would not use for any money. It was used when quite young. By using care you will save yourself a great deal of mortification and sorrow. Good men have been taken sick and become delirious. In these moments they used the most vile and indecent language imaginable. When informed of it after restoration to health, they had no idea of the pain they caused; they had learned and repeated the expressions in childhood, and though years had passed since, they had been indelibly stamped upon the heart. Think of this, you who are tempted to use improper language, and never disgrace yourselves."

DR. PIERCE'S ALT. EXT. OR GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

The originator of this wonderful medicine, claims to have discovered and combined in harmony more of Nature's most sovereign medical properties than was ever before combined in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and hundreds of the best physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. By its great and thorough blood purifying properties, it cures all Humors from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple or Eruption. SADALIS

Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says
I take pleasure in recommending your Rosadalis as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.

Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of Scrofula and Secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleaner of the Blood I know no better remedy.

Samuel G. McFadden, Murfreesborough, Tenn., says:
I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis, and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes.

Benjamin Bechtol, of Lima, Ohio, writes, I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.

Rosadalis is sold by F. P. GREEN, and Druggists generally.

CROWDED OUT.—An article on Narrow Gauge Railroads, our War, Congressional and Legislative news have been crowded out. Narrow Gauge will appear next week.

DOUBLY INSULTED.

No community was ever more outrageously insulted nor the laws of God and man more premeditatedly violated, than ours, on the 3d of September last, when Martin Harder murdered Wm. Dale, in broad daylight, in the most public street in our borough.

Our citizens having been educated to respect law, the culprit was not summarily executed on the spot, though it took some effort to prevent it. The mistake this community then made will not likely occur again. Woe to the next fiend who commits a murder in this community, and is caught. Twelve jurors will not be brought into requisition in his case to acquit a murderer.

The insult perpetrated by the jury in the Harder acquital, is even more outrageous in its results than the act of Harder, His was an individual transgression inflicted upon a local community, but the jury in question have insulted the whole Commonwealth. If Harder was not guilty of murder in the first degree, no such murder was ever committed in the State, and the law is a farce.

We are opposed to capital punishment, but while the advocates keep that barbarous enactment on our statute book, we want them to execute the law and protect society. Stop this thing of allowing murderers to run at large and thereby jeopardize the lives of the citizens contrary to all law on the subject. As the law is now executed it is a disgrace to civilization. There is nothing to deter wicked men from committing murder. A few years in the Penitentiary is really an accommodation for the vicious and renders society very unsafe. No law upon our statute book is so miserably executed as the one relating to murder The man who commits murder, either possesses the heart of a devil, or has an ungovernable temper, and is afterwards unfit to associate with men outside of a Penitentiary

This county has now four murderers in the Penitentiary, who will be out in a few years to ply their vocation. But then they are men. Had they been women, the advocates of capital punishment would have hung them as high as Mrs. Miller. As a member of community we protest against murder and perjury, because such is the result. Out of five murders committed within that many years, four have escaped and will be allowed to torment their respective communities until Providence remove them, or Judge Lynch administers the law.

The acquittal of Harder, on Friday, produced a sensation in this community. The indignation was loudly expressed on every hand, and to such a pitch had the excitement arose that the Sheriff was compelled in two hours to take the prisoner through an alley, put him into a sleigh and smuggle him to Woodland station, not daring to run the risk to take him to the depot here, or even keep him in prison until Monday, as at first contemplated. To prevent a mob Harder had to be removed on short notice.

Such are the results flowing from a law enjoining the hanging of murderers. Were we an advocate of that odious enactment we would be ashamed of our work and deliver all future jobs to Judge Lynch, or to the advocates of imprisonment for life.

We will state before closing that the jury is wholly responsible for this farcical transaction. The court counsel, community, law and all, were rendered nugatory by the 12 Solomons who composed that body.

"May God have mercy on their souls."

The above most extraordinary article on a late murder trial in Clearfield county, we clip from the "Republican," the organ of the Democracy of that county. We have never before seen such an exhibition of cold-blooded malignity as marks this notice, and we would be neglectful of our duty if we permitted such a violent appeal to the worst passions of men to be made unnoticed.

From all that we can learn of the homicide referred to, (and our sources of information are good) we speak strongly when we say that if it were half so barbarous as the foul murder of the King's English in the "Republican's" first paragraph above, the perpetrator deserved the extreme penalty of the law. But as it is impossible for the imagination of man to conceive of anything as preeminently atrocious as this would be, let us see what it is that has so excited the venom of our contemporary, as to make him as reckless of grammar as of law, as deficient in language as in morals.

On September 3d 1870, John Meader and Norman Robins had an altercation in which Meader struck Robins. Martin Harder who was intoxicated, then interfered in behalf of Robins, and was thrust aside by Wm. Dale the friend of Meader. Robins and Harder, the latter having an open knife in his pocket went to a neighboring tavern, took a drink returned to where they had left Dale, who, upon Harder's calling him a liar struck him, when Harder stabbed him, from the effects of which he died in a few minutes. For this Harder was tried at the last term of court in Clearfield. From the article in the "Republican" one would infer he had been acquited, and turned loose on the community; but the fact is, he was found guilty of the crime he had perpetrated, viz murder of the second degree, and sentenced to eleven years and eight months in the State prison. But the impetuous editor of the "Republican" is dissatisfied with the degree of the homicide fixed by the jury. That a man who is opposed to capital punishment (vide section four, above) should consider respect for law a mistake (vide section two) is not so surprising as that he should advocate the putting to death of this man. "I do not believe in capital punishment" says Dogberry "that is, for murder in the first degree, but this man who has been found guilty of the crime in the second degree should be hung."

This absurdity is only equaled by the remarks of a Western Judge. "God has given you" he said to the prisoner, "health and a fine appearance, instead of which you go about the country stealing ducks."

"A few years in the Penitentiary is really an accomodation for the vicious and renders society very unsafe." "We are opposed to capital punishment." In the light of these sentences, which strike at the two principal modes of punishment now in vogue, we can see in its enormity the infamous teaching of the whole article. The second and the last four paragraphs are appeals to the ruffian spirit, to the hasty passions of man. As the "Republican" is read by the greater portion of the people of the county in which it is published, its influence for good or bad is great. In this instance it has cast its influence on the side of passion, ruffianism and wrong. The editor, forgetting the great mission of the journalist, to educate the people, and to advocate obedience to law, in an article couched in the most bitter terms, tempts its readers to cast all law aside, and be themselves as well the makers, as the executioners of the law. He attacks in the most scurrilous terms, the twelve men who from sixty summoned, were the choice alike of the commonwealth and defendant. These "twelve good and lawful men," having taken a solemn oath "to make a true deliverance between the commonwealth and the prisoner, heard the evidence on both sides as controlled by the court, listened to the eloquence of U. S. District Attorney H. B. Swoope against the prisoner, and the pleas of his counsel on his behalf, and received a clear charge from an impartial, honorable and learned Judge, deliberated for ten or twelve hours, and then on their oaths said, the prisoner was "guilty of murder in the second degree."

But it is on the question of degree that the wrath of the "Republican" is most strongly excited. "All murders which is perpetrated by poison or lying in wait, or any other premeditated deliberate murder, or in the perpetration of burglary, robbery, rape, or arson shall be murder in the first degree, and all other kinds shall be murder in the second degree" are the words of the statute as nearly as we can recall them without reference to the books. Now, on a fair exposition of this definition, after a charge from the court that was perfectly satisfactory to the representatives of the commonwealth, the jury ascertained the crime to be in the second degree and rendered a verdict accordingly. In one sentence of the "Republican's" article, there is a faint admission that the verdict of the jury was right. "The man who commits murder either possesses the heart of a devil" (in which case it is murder in the first degree) "or has an ungovernable temper" (when his crime would be murder in the second degree) "and is afterwards unfit to associate with men outside of a penitentiary." Compare this with "a few years in the penitentiary is an accommodation for the vicious" and "we are opposed to capital punishment."

But the true reason why the editor of the organ of the Democracy wails in disappointed agony over the result of this trial does not appear in the article. Martin Harder, the unfortunate man whose "ungovernable temper" has sent him for twelve years to prison, differs in politics from the partizan editor, and during the late war was active in reporting to the U. S. authorities the names and acts of those whose treasonable practices made them the enemies of a betrayed country. For this, which was in the days of the "Republican," a most damnable crime, the blood-thirsty editor clamors for the life of him who was one of the instruments of the law in suppressing the treason which the "Republican" advocated. As an exhibition of political malice, and partizan unscrupulousness the article quoted above is unparallelled in the annals of journalism.

THE census reports show us that in population Iowa has beaten all her sisters in the relative order of rank, having jumped from the nineteenth, in 1860, to the thirteenth, in 1870. In the same time her population has increased over 500,000, being now 1,177,515. Many of the northern counties have during this time gained from five to fifteen times the number of population they had ten years ago. New farms are being opened in every direction over her broad and fertile prairies, while new towns spring up as if by magic along all the new lines of railroads.

THE people of France seem to be inspired with an almost superhuman hopefulness and courage. The shelling of Paris continues, but its inhabitants are not yet ready to capitulate. The Army of the Loire, defeated, broken, and driven in confusion from its line of battle, is preparing to renew the struggle; Faidherbe, in the North, is marching his troops over frozen ground to once more face the victorious enemy; and in the East another attack, unsuccessful of course, has been made on Gen. Werder.

In Saturday's Ledger appeared an advertisement, "Wanted ten good Pointers." By breakfast time the advertiser was run down by dog merchants, with all sorts of specimens of "pointers." As he desired ten of that class of bricklayers known as "pointers," his surprize may be imagined.—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE Weekly State Journal published at Harrisburg, from the daily State Journal office, is a good sized paper, well filled with the choicest of reading matter, and the news of the day, as well as the reports of Congress and our Legislature. Terms $2.00 per year.

THIS EVENING.—The Presbyterian Monthly Temperance Association meets in the Wigwam this Wednesday evening.

AN Arkansas editor, apologizing for lack of editorials, because "the day had been consumed in answering challenges and arranging preliminaries to fight, added that "a pressure of editorial duties had allowed those matters to accumulate on his hands for several days, so that he had to devote considerable time to settling them all in a lump." He assures his readers that "it will not occur again, as he has so disposed his corps of assistants as to allow him time to give immediate attention to these little matters at the time of the occurrence."

$1,000 reward is offered by the proprietor of Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery for a medicine that will equal it for the cure of all the diseases for which it is recommended, among which are "Biliousness," or "Liver Complaint," constipated bowels, impure blood, scrofulous diseases. Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils and severe and lingering Coughs, Bronchitis, Consumption in its early stages and nervous and general debility. Sold by druggists.

WOMENS' RIGHTS.—We learn from the Philadelphia Press, that Wilkesbarre leads the State in substantial commonsense reform on the woman question. The Wyoming National Bank there, it is reported, has just elected a lady director, she owning or representing a large amount of the stock of the bank. We would simply ask the question, is it the woman, or the large amount of stock she owns, which is honored by said bank? How true it is, that "money makes the mare go."

The new Bloomfield Advocate and Press says of the Boyer trial: There was great excitement before, and much interest manifested during the trial. The court house was filled to overflowing during the entire trial. Happily the suspicion of foul play has been removed from the minds of all who heard the testimony, and the verdict of "not guilty" is satisfactory to the public.

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Grey Hair to its natural Vitality & Color.

A dress which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Fresh or gray hair is restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparation dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Drunkenness and its Curses—No. 6.

BY REFORMATION.

Have you a conscience? and we do not doubt this; but in the name of sober common sense, what kind of a one have you? Is that conscience under the influence of Divine Authority? If so your actions does not sustain you in claiming such. You are a moralist, a formalist, and an educationalist, and you are a member of high standing, (so the world says in the church.) You hold a high priced pew there at least, let the convictions of heart be what it may. I said in my last article, that from the church arises the most formidable obstacle to the advancement of the cause of temperance. The church is composed of a large number of members, and you are one of them, and unfortunately for the cause of temperance. God, and weeping humanity, there are too many such members as you. But I am a sober man, I do not drink, nor do I buy or sell liquor. I do not accuse you of this. You own that fine large hotel over the way there, do you not? Yes it is mine, it cost $50,000, yes, and Mr.——has it rented from you at a large rent, say $2,500 per annum. It is a licensed house for the sale of intoxicating liquors, is it not? Yes! Now you do not drink, buy or sell liquor, but the man who has it rented from you does. Now for that church obstacle. Why you are the obstacle and all of like akin to you. There is the answer. And our churches to day have many such obstacles. And the ministers of the Gospel suffer such as you to have and hold the highest positions in the church, and why? Because you are a man of fine clothes and wear a diamond ring on your finger. And in what light does such ministers stand? To him that knoweth to do good and doeth it not, to him it is a sin. Notwithstanding you do not drink, buy or sell liquor yourself, you are an accomplice, and instead of lending your means for the advancement of the cause of God, which you profess to espouse. You have given of your means for the spread of intemperance.

Now if your conscience can rest at ease under such circumstances, be it so; but allow me to say to you, it is a very dangerous one to rest the safety of your soul upon. Now for the sake of the church of God, and the safety of your own soul, as well as others, think and reflect upon your situation, before it is forever too late.

Does the christian (for it is to those professing to be such, I am talking,) pray for the spread of religion, and is he at the same time engaged in the spread of intemperance? Does he pray for the reformation of the world, and while his prayers are ascending to heaven is he spreading the plague that poisons the heart and renders mankind incapable of reformation? Is he supporting the missionary in foreign lands from funds which he has collected as the wages of drunkenness—and does he believe the God of heaven will smile on the labors of him who is supported by food taken from the mouths of the wife and children of the drunkard, for the drink that destroys them? While he is attempting to teach the heathen the way to heaven, is he binding his own countrymen in chains strong as the bands of death, and leading them in the road to hell? Is he training them in practices and habits which will assuredly debar them from the realms of bliss, as though no redemption had been provided for them?

There I have now given you a full description of this church obstacle, ask no further explanation at my hands. Is it not enough? Look at its nature and its workings, then pause and reflect what an awful condition it is to be in, when your professions are as sounding brass or tinkling symbols. Do you not see the ground you now occupy? Could I make it more clear? Your conscience tells you plainly you are standing on dangerous ground and now heed its warnings, hear what the secret judge is now saying to you. Every man is a little world within himself, and to this little world there is a court of judicature erected, wherein, next under God, the conscience sits as supreme judge, from whom there is no appeal, that passes sentence upon us, upon all our actions, upon all our intentions, for our persons, absolving one, condemning another, for our actions, allowing one, condemning or forbidding another. If that condemns us, and if that clear us, the doom which the world passeth upon us is frivulous and ineffectual. But in the face of all this, your conduct and actions prove you to be living as though the mandates of God were to be made a servant of carnal convenience, and you are a church member only for the gain of the wealth of the world, and your house is but a house of deception—governed by a carnal mind, filled with hypocrisy, traveling only with the outer garments of christianity, but inwardly filled with extortion and excess.

As it was when Christ was on earth, so it is to day. Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the begining, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own for he is a liar, and the father of it. St. John ch. VIII, v. 44. And by and through such men is the great demon of intemperance sustained, fed and clothed, and its business made respectable among, and in, the community. Now is it not a deplorable truth! You find this character at the head of our church (often in the pulpit,) a deacon, an elder, a class leader, a Sunday school teacher, you see him at the Lord's table, a leader at the prayer meeting, an exhorter at revival meetings. He is found in our Congress Halls, in our Senate Chamber, in our Legislature, and upon our Supreme bench, and in short fills all the high positions of honor upon earth. Now, you who profess to be the true friends of the cause of temperance, are you so blind to your duty as to look upon this picture with indifference? Is not here the great fountain-head of intemperance, from whence flows and are fed all the springs of intemperance? And until this fountain is broken up, our land must continue to be deluged with this demon of destruction.

It is not the hotel keeper, the wholesale dealer, nor yet the manufacturer who stands most guilty in the sight of God. But you who make and hold such men in respectability. Now friends of the cause, we see the demon's headquarters, and we must march to the front, and lay seige upon his strong holds. You claim to be soldiers of the cross, you know your duty—you see whole families sunk into depravity, death and destruction around you. The fell destroyer is before your eyes, and can you be indifferent spectators to the desolations of this destroyer? Can you view with apathy its ravages, and be guiltless? Are you not called upon by the principles of that benevolent and heavenly religion which you profess, to act as a body on this all-important subject?

Intemperance aims a deadly blow at everything you hold dear, (at least everything you profess to hold dear.) It eradicates from the human heart every feeling and every principal which religion inspires, and it poisons the very soil upon which it grows. Where ever this vice is found, humanity weeps, virtue disappears, and religion dies away. But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven. St. Math. chapter 10, v 33d.

An Allegory.

The old man was toiling through the burden and heat of the day, in cultivating his own land, and depositing the promising seed in the fruitful lap of yielding earth. Suddenly there stood before him, under the shade of a huge linden tree, a vision. The old man was struck with amazement.

"I am Solomon," spoke the phantom in a friendly voice. "What are you doing here, old man?"

"If you are Solomon," replied the venerable laborer, "how can you ask this? In my youth you sent me to the ant. I saw its occupation, and learned from that insect to be industrious and to gather. What I then learned I have followed out to this hour."

"You have only learned half your lesson," replied the spirit. "Go again to the ant and learn to rest in the winter of your life, and to enjoy what you have gathered up."

THE amount expended for postage alone by the Pennsylvania Legislature at the last session, which continued a little more than one hundred days, was $13,000—in round numbers one hundred dollars to a Senator and Member on an average, or about one dollar daily to each.

MODESTY and common sense cannot be successfully counterfeited.

MANHOOD

In the Young and Rising Generation.

The vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lackjustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which Nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so facinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain. The parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S

EXTRACT BUCHU

For Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this Medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases Insanity and Consumption! The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth or Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur, it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences.

The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS.

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. Send for a circular.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

The Teeth of a Horse.

At five years of age a horse has forty teeth. These are: twenty-four molar or jaw teeth, twelve incisor or front teeth, and four tusks or canine teeth, between the molars and incisors, usually wanting in the mare. At birth, only the two nippers or middle incisors appear. At a year old, the incisors and all visible on the first or milk set. Before three years, the permanent nipper have come through. At four years old, the permanent dividers next to the nippers are out. At five the mouth is perfect, the second set of teeth having been completed. At six, the hollow under the nippers, called the mark, has disappeared from the nippers, and diminished in the dividers. At seven, the mark has disappeared from the dividers, and the next teeth, or corners, are level, though showing no mark. At eight, the mark has gone from the corners, and the horse is said to be aged. After this time indeed, good authorities say after five years the age of a horse can only be conjectured.—But the teeth gradually change their form, the incisors becoming round, oval, and then triangular. Dealers sometimes bishop the teeth of old horses; that is, scooped them out to imitate the mark: but this can be known by the absence of the white edge of enamel which always surrounds the real mark, by the shape of the teeth, and other marks of age about the animal.

How Much Work Can a Horse Do.

At a former meeting of the British Association in Dublin, Mr. Charles Bianconi of Cashel read a paper relative to his extensive car establishment, after which a gentleman stated that at Pickford's, the great English carrier's they could not work a horse economically more than ten miles a day, and wished to hear Mr. Bianconi's opinion on the subject. Mr. Bianconi stated he found, by experience, he could better work a horse eight miles a day for six days in the week, than six miles a day for seven days in the week. By not working on a Sunday he effected a saving of twelve per cent.

Mr. Bianconi's opinion on this point is of the highest authority, for although the extension of railways in the land has thrown thirty-seven of his vehicles out of employ, which daily ran 2,446 miles, still he has over nine hundred horses, working sixty-seven conveyances, which daily travel 4,244 miles. It is also founded on the result of forty-three years experiences.—Scientific American.

Saw-Dust as Manure.

The common practice of throwing this article into the streams on which saw-mills and shingle-mills are situated is reprehensible. It would not pay to spread it upon a muck swamp, but upon any sandy land, or light gravelly loam, deficient in vegetable matter, it would prove a good dressing, and in time would show good results. The best use we have ever seen it put to, was bedding for animals in stables. It is an excellent absorbent, and will keep cows clean even better than straw. It is also a very light, handy article in the hennery, and more cleanly to handle than muck in common, open, privy vaults. The article is merchantable in cities, and is quite extensively used upon floors in eating saloons, and for other purposes. At country mills it can generally be had for the carting as mill owners are glad to be rid of it. It is a good substitute for straw, and this is now worth so much for manufacturing purposes, in many parts of the country, that no thrifty farmer can afford to use it for bedding.

A Good Common Loaf Cake.—One cup each of sugar molasses, butter, sour milk, and raisins. Two eggs, four cups of flour. Teaspoonful soda and spice to taste. Beat the eggs very light, add the sugar and butter and beat all well together. Then add the molasses and two cups of flour, and last the sourmilk with the soda dissolved in it, the rest of the flour and raisins, with a teaspoonful each of cinnamon and cloves.

Boiling Large Potatoes.—Why is it that the best and largest potatoes on the dish are almost invariably spoiled by being a little undergone, when every one knows that the difficulty can be so easily obviated? Always make a rule, in boiling potatoes, to assort them and put the larger ones in the pot a few minutes before the smaller ones are thrown in.—Hearth and Home.

Mexico is a queer place. One half of the people are ex presidents, and the other half loafers. There is but one industrious man in the whole country, and he's got the itch.

From ocean unto ocean,
And now complete connections made,
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedy and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about
And wore out all their clothing.

Chorus, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. Sternberg,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of Spring and Summer clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, January 25, 1871.

HOME NEWS.

TIGHT lacing is condusive to bad temper.

A STEER was butchered in Bethlehem, Pa., last week, which dressed 1552 pounds.

LATE.—Better late than never. We have been informed that Jno. Caldwell's big hog weighed 500½ lbs. net.

BARGAINS.—Persons wishing bargains in town lots, in this borough, should call on, or address Robert McKnight.

CHEAP.—Forster & Devling boast that they sell all kinds of goods cheaper than any other merchants in town.

COURT.—Court has been in session since Monday. A great many people are in town; but few, as yet, have called to see us.

THEY now have a Women's Christian Association in Philadelphia. It is said the association is doing a great and glorious work. Why not organize a branch in this place? Ladies, here is a chance.

THANKS.—Our thanks are due the gentlemanly proprietors of the B. & S. S. Railroad, for a free pass over their road—good until January 1st, 1872. Again we say, gentlemen, we thank you for this appreciation of our labors.

THE Clinton Republican, published in the new city of Lock Haven, is a good ized paper, neatly printed and its local epartment well conducted. It is the only Republican paper published in Clinton county and has a large circulation.

A NEW BELL.—The Methodists of Port Matilda have procured a new bell for their church which they expect to have up in a few days, so that the Bald Eagle valley is iikely ere long to hear "the sound of the church going bell," a sound to which it is, as yet, unaccustomed.

IS IT TRUE?—We understand that two young men on last Sabbath evening, offered their services to the same young lady to see her safe home. One of them of course was accepted. The jilted gentlemen, so our reporter says is sick in bed not likely to recover. We pity him.

PORT MATILDA.—The Ladies of Port Matilda, are preparing a quilt to be voted for between Rev. Butler, Pastor of the M. E church on Half Moon circuit and Rev. Akers, of Port Matilda. The proceeds are to be applied to liquidating the debt on the M. E. church at Port Matilda.

NEW BRIDGE.—The new bridge on Lamb Street is a most complete success, a benefit not only to all the residents of the town; but to the entire farming community who deal with the enterprising firm of Jno M. Wagner & Co. The lower mill as it is called is the best grain market in this county.

GRADED SCHOOLS.—The Public schools of Port Matilda, have been graded much to the advantage of the educational interests of the community. Miss Myers, of Tyrone has charge of the High school which she is conducting most successfully and Miss J. Morrison of Bellefonte is doing finely in charge of the Primary school.

WANTS LOOKING AFTER.—A recent visit to the Black Oak school house in Huston tp., shows that the stove is without a grate and we are informed has been so for some time. The school mistress has difficulty no doubt in keeping herself and the scholars comfortable. This neglect deserves notice and if long continued is reprehensible.

FACTORY.—The Lewisburgers boast of having a three story Boot and Shoe Factory. If the capitalists of this place would study their own interests, Bellefonte might boast not only of a half dozen such manufactories; but also of a hard ware and cutlery, and several other establishment. There is no better water power in the world than we possess.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Danl. Koon, of Bald Eagle Furnace, retired in usual health on Sunday evening Jan. 8th, and about an hour and a half afterwards was heard to groan heavily. His wife supposing him to be afflicted with nightmare shook him gently. He neither spoke nor moved, she became alarmed and called for a light which was brought but alas the vital spark had fled. Truly in the midst of life we are in death.

GOOD SCHOOLS.—We have the authority of the county Superintendent for saying that the public Schools in Howard, Curtin and Liberty twp., are far superior to the schools in other portions of the county. The schools in Pennsvally in no wise compare with the schools on this side the county. What does Pennsvally mean? What is the use of all her wealth, if she neglects her schools and the education of her children? Perhaps Pennsvally thinks her only duty to be to vote the Democratic ticket and denounce the Fifteenth Amendment.

From the Presbyterian.

A YEAR'S EXPERIENCE.—Messrs. Editors—The Card, Envelope, and Box System, adopted a year ago by the Presbyterian congregation of Bellefonte, Pa., and approved by the Synod of Harrisburg in October last, commends itself to the churches by its fruits.

The Presbyterian congregation of Bellefonte, numbering less than two hundred communicants, have contributed during the year ending December 31, 1870, to the spread of the gospel, two thousand six hundred and fifty-five dollars; and to the home work, consisting of minister's salary, sexton's wages, fuel, light, &c., two thousand four hundred and eleven dollars—making together five thousand and sixty-six dollars, independent of about twelve thousand dollars spent in the erection of a Sabbath school Bethel. From the initiation of the system on the 1st of January, 1870, to the end of the year, no elder, no deacon, no trustee, no collector called upon any one for a contribution to church work at home or abroad, and yet the flow of money, by the channel provided, into the Lord's treasury, though silent, was constant and full. The results surpass the expectations of the most sanguine, and the amounts contributed greatly exceed the contributions of any former year. H. N. McA.

WE are happy to announce that the able and enterprising firm of Artman, Dillinger & Co., on account of the continued increase of their trade, have removed from the rooms formerly occupied by them at No. 144 North 3d St., to the large and elegant rooms No. 47 North 3d St., Philadelphia.

Notwithstanding these gentlemen are second to none in the city, in a business point of view, they are to a great extent indebted to their genteel and affable Agent, James P. Odenkirk, Esq., for a large share of their immense trade.

We take pleasure in recommending this firm to the merchants throughout the State, who purchase wood and willow ware, as one of the most responsible in the city, and that any goods ordered through their Agent, Jas. P. Odenkirk, will receive the prompt attention of the firm in case he should be absent from the city.

COMPLIMENTARY.—A correspondent of the Presbyterian, writing from Laramie, Wyoming Territory, pays the following handsome compliment to Mrs. William Morris, formerly Mary Burnside of this place. It affords us pleasure to chronicle the good deeds of any of "old Centre's" children.

"Our church at Rawlings has been greatly favored. Last year God sent his handmaid, Mrs. Wm. Morris, of Phil'a., over this road to California. Her heart was so moved with the great need of Christ's cause, that in connection with her family she erected a church at Rawlings. Whenever I see that little monument of faith, hope, and love of souls, I almost involuntarily pray God to bless her. Already has it become a birthplace of souls, and her name will be like the precious ointment of old to that people till the great day of the Lord."

TRY AGAIN.—Two weeks ago we recorded the fact that our copper-head friend Benj. Hunter had killed the largest hog of the season: but G. L. Peters, Esq., of Union tp., set Benj., in the back ground, by killing a hog on the 10, inst., which weighed 586 lbs. This is the largest hog that has been killed in this county, or at least the heaviest reported to us. Our friend Benjamin must try again.

B. V. Brisbin of the same place, and on the same day killed a pig six months old, which weighed 197 lbs. Pretty good for a pig—a Democratic pig at that.

NEW FIRM.—Samuel Lipton and Jas. H. Lipton, trading under the firm name of Samuel Lipton & Co., have purchased the tobacco store on the corner of Allegheny and Bishop Streets, from Levi A. Miller. Both these gentlemen are well known to our citizens, and we have no doubt will receive a large share of the public patronage. There are few cleverer men in this county than Jas. H. Lipton. Mr. Miller's reasons for selling out, were that he wishes to devote his whole time, talent and capital to his first class Grocery Store. Success to all of you, gentlemen.

JUVENILE PRECOCITY.—The Philipsburg Journal is responsible for the following: "An instance of five-year old naivete was given by a little boy in the infant class of the M. E. Sabbath School, a few Sabbaths ago. While speaking to the class of the Savior, the teacher asked of what religion Jesus was. There was no reply. Again the teacher queried, "was he not a Jew?" and still no response. Said the teacher, "Yes, he was a Jew," when a bright-eyed, chubby-faced little fellow spoke up; "Was he? I thought he was a Methodist!"

MORE HOGS.—Houseal & Krom Proprietors of the Brokerhoff House in this place, killed on Friday last four hogs which weighed 1525 lbs in the aggregate. The heaviest of the four weighed 455 lbs. The Gentlemanly proprietors of the Brokerhoff, feed their guest in the best of style and they can well afford to do it when they kill their own hogs. They have another lot that will be slaughtered in February.

BEAUTIFUL THOUGHT.—There is but a breath of air and a beat of the heart between this world and the next. And in the brief interval of a painful and awful suspense, while we feel that death is with us, that we are powerless, and he all powerful, and the last faint pulsation here is but the prelude of endless life hereafter, we feel in the midst of a stunning calamity about to befall us, that earth has no compensating good to the severity of our loss. But there is no grief without some beneficent provisions to soften its intensities. When the good and lovely die, the memory of their good deeds, like the moon on the stormy sea, lights up our darkened hearts, and lends to the surroundings a beauty so sad, so sweet, that we would not, if we could, dispel the darkness that environs us.

EVERYBODY KNOWS US.—Some say, that it is no use for them to advertise, that they have been in one place of business all their lives, and everybody knows them. Such people seem to forget to take into consideration that our country is increasing in population nearly forty per cent every ten years, and no matter how old the place may be, there are constant changes taking place, some move to other parts, and strangers fill their places. In this age of the world, unless the name of a business firm is kept constantly before the public, some firms may start up, and, by liberal advertising, in a very short time take the places of the older ones, and the latter rust out as it were and be forgotten. No man ever lost money by judicious advertising.

REVIVAL AT MILESBURG.—An interesting revival has been in progress for a week past in the M. E. Church at Milesburg. The Pastor was assisted on last Sabbath by Rev. J. Benson Akers of Port Matilda, who preached a most earnest and impressive sermon, both morning and evening.

An interesting childrens meeting was held on Sunday afternoon. Addresses were delivered by Rev. Perry and Prof. Davis of the Baptist church, and Rev. Akers, of the M. E. church, and the Pastor Rev. Cleaver.

The singing was conducted by J. C. P. Jones, and reflected great credit upon all concerned. Seven persons have professed conversion and the meeting still continues with unabated interest.

MILESBURG.—This enterprising town in connection with Central City, is flourishing like a "green bay tree.....The correspondent who sent us the local in regard to the National Hotel, will not have the pleasure of seeing it in print for the simple reason that he did not send us his name. Once more we say, we must have the name of our correspondents in full, not for the purpose of publication, but in self defence.....We are pained to learn that our friend, Rev. C. G. Ryman, is in a precarious state. He has been, and is now, one of Centre counties best citizens, always right and for the right, we hope that Providence will prolong his life for many years. Let the prayers of all the churches go up in his behalf.

SHARP.—The editor Phil D. Stover, of the Millheim Berichter, continues to abuse us in dutch. He thinks, of course, that we do not know what he says; but in this he is mistaken. We went to school too long to let Phil., sell us in Dutch. If the editor of the Berichter, wishes to take lessons in German, that is, correct German, let him call at the office of the REPUBLICAN and he can be accomodated. In the meantime we ask our patrons to read what Mr. Stover has to say of us.

"Brown vom REPUBLICAN, berichtet von einer befordern aufregung in Bellefonte infolge einer spuckstory hervongerieten. Der Geist soll in einer Kirche sein Spieltreiben und jede Nacht Punkt ein Viertel von ein Uhr Regel spielen Wunder was das Nachste sein wird, was Brown weiss?"

NEW FIRM.—The drug store belonging to F. S. Wilson, deceased, has been purchased by Jno. B. Linn and P. B. Wilson, and by them the business will hereafter be conducted, under the firm-name of Linn & Wilson. Dr. James Hillibish, that first class druggist and prince of good fellows, will maintain his position. With Dr. Hillibish as chief in a drug store, no one need be afraid of not getting the proper prescriptions. We wish the new firm success.

MEAT MARKET.—It is with pleasure we call the attention of our readers to the card of B. V. Black of this place. Mr. Black has one of the finest and cleanest meat markets in Pennsylvania. He is a clever and affable gentleman, and understands his business well. Call and see him.

HOTEL.—We call the attention of our readers to the card of Gottlieb Haag, Proprietor, of the Pleasant Gap Hotel. Mr. Haag and lady understand their business, and have made up their minds to accommodate their customers. Mr. Haag also advertises segars for sale.

GAY.—The two young ladies that were walking for their health, on Linn street, on last Friday evening, will have no occasion to employ a Physician soon.—Nothing like exercise for health and longevity.

EDITOR OF REPUBLICAN:—

As we, in the interior of the State are a manufacturing people, perhaps it would be interesting to your many readers to know something of the extent of the manufacturing interests of the western portion of our great State. We are far in the rear of our border counties in the manufactory of our great staple iron. Leaving Pittsburg on the Erie and Pittsburg Railroad, the eye of the beholder is perfectly bewildered as he passes along that pleasant thoroughfare, to see the vast development of our national resources. The first point of attraction is Rochester and Beaver Falls, at which places are several extensive Cutlery establishments, employing several hundred men and investing many thousands of dollars.

Next is New Castle, a flourishing town and a prominent point on the railroad, at which place are five large Smelting Furnaces in full blast, yielding an average of twenty-eight tons of good metal every twenty-four hours to each furnace. In addition to these there are three large Rolling Mills manufacturing the metals into all kinds of Iron for practical purposes.

Next is Middlesex, a flourishing town with four large Smelting Furnaces in active operation.

Next is Wheatland with four large Smelting Furnaces and one of the largest Rolling Mills going up that is in the State. This mill, when completed, will out rival the celebrated mills at Danville or Johnstown—these works are owned and carried on by the enterprising firm of Woods of Pittsburg.

Next is Sharron, a thriving and enterprising town one and a half miles above Wheatland, with six large Smelting Furnaces and two large Rolling Mills, all in active operation. One of these furnaces, viz: Shenango, the first ten days after commencing operation yielded the enormous amount of two hundred and eighty tons of metal.

Last but not least, is Sharpsville, three miles above Sharron, a very interesting town with four large Smelting Furnaces in full blast, three of them owned by Gen. Pierce, one of the most eminent and enterprising citizens in the western part of the State. Another furnace is being erected by Messrs. J. J. Pierce & Kelley, which when completed will be one of the finest establishments in the Shenango valley. Too much cannot be said in coommendation of these enterprising, affable and courteous gentlemen. Their furnace is known by the significant name of "Shoo-Fly" which signifies "don't bother me."

We are developing the rich resources of nature—we are elevating the manufacturing interests of our great mineral State—we are finding employment for willing hand at fair remunerations, yea more, filling the desire of nature's God by taking from the bowels of the earth, her wealth and spreading prosperity, peace and plenty all around.

Thus in twenty-two miles there are twenty-four of these large furnaces and six large rolling mills. These furnaces yielding but twenty-five tons per day, each, would amount to the handsome pile of six hundred tons per day, thus we can form some inadequate conception of what the manufacturing interests of Pennsylvania would be, if properly protected by good wholesome tariff laws. W. G.

LOGAN FIRE COMPANY.—The annual meeting of the Logan Fire company of Bellefonte, took place on Friday evening Jan. 20th, at the Hose House.

The company's apparatus is in good order and they are making every effort to improve it. An additional hook and plug wrench and one new nozzel of small vent are needed as well as a truck for ladders hooks and axes.

They offer the privilege of contributing membership to all acceptable citizens who will contribute one dollar per annum in advance, which membership involves no duties other than payment of dues, and secures all rights except voting and holding office. Members serving five years become honorary members, if they choose, and others may be elected.

President A. B. Hutchison; V. President L. A. Miller; Sec'y. A. Morrison; Tresurer Jacob Pence; Chief Director W. S. Wagner; 1st asst. director Jno. N. Lane; 2d asst. director Joseph Townsend 3d asst. director H. Dixon; 4th asst. director Robt. Lawrence.

Plugmen Jas. B. Hillibish, Wm. Galbraith. A special meeting of the company will be held this eeening at the Hose House to arrange for a Parade Ball on he 16th, February. Prompt attendance of every member is desired at 7 p. m. precisely.

A. MORRISON,
Sect'y.

HEALTH AND WEALTH.—Health depends upon keeping our systems in proper tone. We often need the aid of tonics to do so. Speer's "Standard Wine Bitters," according to the opinion of our best and most successful Medical Practitioners are the desideratum so long sought after by the profession. Try them and be convinced.

NEWS FROM OTHER COUNTIES.

MIFFLIN COUNTY.

On the 11th inst., Christian Peachey, of Menno township, whilst riding down the mountain road on a sled loaded with stones, the sled upset and Mr. P's legs being fast in the fenders, he came very near having both legs broken. At last accounts he was not able to walk.....A few weeks ago Robert Smith of Allenville, was thrown out of his wagon, and had an arm broken. He now talks of suing the Supervisors of the township for $500 damages. He claims that he was thrown out by the wheel running into a large rut....A little episode occurred in the Lutheran church of this place on Sunday night last, which is worth mentioning. As the evening service was about to close, the pastor, Rev. J. H. Brown, took occasion to admonish his congregation against attending the Exhibitions being given in the Town Hall by Alice Gilmore's Female Minstrel Troupe, and in his remarks denounced the show as a low, vulgar, or indecent concern. It so happened that half a dozen of the members of the Troupe were present, and, no sooner had Mr. Brown concluded, than up jumps one of the showmen, who, after apologizing for the interruption, stated that he felt it his bounden duty then and there to deny in to-to the imputations made against the Troupe by the Pastor. The company, he said, was a proper one, and the performance not only decent, but entirely moral in all its appointments. Moreover," said the showman, "I am a member of a church myself, and I know of no wrong I do in belonging to this show." Of course, such a digression from the usual order of things, created an immense sensation, and various outbursts of sentiment were made all over the church. One member told the minister not to get excited, whilst others commanded the showman to sit down. The whole affair, however, was over in a few minutes, for the showman, after "saying his say," quietly resumed his seat. But the town had something to talk about next day, and the effect of such conspicuous advertising was, the Town Hall at Monday night's exhibition was full to overflowing.....Mr. Joseph M. Cogley, an aged and respected citizen of Lewistown, died in that place on the 18th inst., aged 70 years.

BLAIR COUNTY.

The ice houses are full.....The editor of the Standard says his pocket is empty. We think that an editor who inculcates treason and immoral sentiments generally, will, or ought to, always find his pocket-book empty. It serves you right. Did you ever hear us complain of an empty pocket-book?.....A successful religious revival is in progress in the Baptist Church of Holidaysburg..... The Good Templars Lodge of Holidaysburg, has suspended. So says the Radical, and the Radical is always right..... The Altoona Sun has abandoned its project of publishing a directory of that city. In our opinion the Altoona Sun has not yet exactly learned what it does want, or what it intends to do. It is always grasping for more, and has more Moore than it can get along with. Just enough of anything is enough; but Moore than that is a nuisance and uncalled for even in the newspaper world. We remember of having read of one Daniel among the lions and he was perfectly safe among them, but history informs us, that that Daniel was a praying man, and not a copperhead.....The Standard says, "Cambria county, or rather the Alleghenian, rejoices over the drawing of a colored juror for that bail iwick. Cambria county is Democratic. Blair county, as far as heard from has had no similar honor thrust upon her. Blair county is Republican. Why is this thus?.....Friday morning the 13th inst., the Pacific Express west was thrown from the track by a broken rail, at South Fork, between Johnstown and Altoona. One of the passenger cars went over an embankment, landing at the foot bottom up. The newsboy had a foot crushed and an arm broken, and several passengers were more or less hurt.....The Standard fearing that Senator Petriken and Representative Hewit from the effects of too much benzine, or the Philadelphia roughs, may not always be found by their constituents, inserts the following notice: "Some of our readers may be interested in knowing where their representatives in the State Legislature, at Harrisburg, board. We therefore mention:—Senator Petriken boards at the Bolton House, and Senator Crawford and Representative Hewit at the State Capitol Hotel." Poor Petriken, failed to get up a sensation on the assassination story. Nobody ever thought of killing Bruce, for the reason that no person ever thought him worth killing. One thing is certain his election to the Senate was an accident and his party feel disgraced over his election. Poor Petriken. The Republicans of this district feel humiliated, and are very sorry that they suffered the copperheads to carry the district. They will do better in the future.....The Tyrone Presbyterian fair held during the holidays, netted $8,25.....The Radical says, a car load of refrigerated Buffalo meat passed over the railroad on Monday last. We think from what we can learn of the editors of the Radical and the Altoona people, that they must have been eating Buffalo meat. The returns of the last election, at least, proves them a little wild. Perhaps a little more Lemon would make you right. If so we have no objections.....We did our best to get some Blair county news out of the Tyrone Herald; but Brainerd is evidently taken up so much with Centre matters that he has nothing to say of his own county. His great trouble appears to be in finding a candidate for Auditor General, who has got the scrip? Alas poor Brainerd.....The Radical says the City Council is in a dead lock on the water question. Water in Altoona is scarcer than whiskey, and the Radical thinks that the council must work, before the Legislature adjourns, or suffer the consequences of the delay. The Alteona people want more water and less whiskey. Sensible people and King & Irwin are their editors.

CLEARFIED COUNTY.

We learn from the "Raftsman's Journal," that on Tuesday evening, January 10th, the house on the "Davie" Miller farm, in Lawrence township, was consumed by fire. It was occupied by George Orr and family, who lost most of their household effects. The building was and old one and of but little value.....The "Journal" also says, that a young man named Iddings, of Centre county, had his right leg smashed below the knee by being caught between two logs, while at work on Hill's log job, in Goshen township, week before last. The fracture was reduced, and the patient is getting well as rapidly as could be expected.....The "Journal" of the 18th inst., says owing to the melting of the snow under a very mild air on Friday last, and the copious fall of rain on Saturday, our streams rose rapidly and caused a general break up of the ice in the river on Sunday. The rise was altogether unexpected, and, in consequence, much timber went adrift, which otherwise would have been secured against loss. The loss will be seriously felt by many of our lumbermen. What effect it will have upon the general market in the spring, it is hard to foretell; but, we presume, it will have a tendency to enhance prices.....In the afternoon of Tuesday, January 10th, the trial of Martin Harder, for the murder of Wm. Dale, was called up, and a competent jury empanelled in the case. After a critical examination of a large number of witnesses, and the patient hearing of able counsel on both sides, the Court submitted the case to the jury on Thursday evening. On Friday morning, on the re-assembling of the Court, the jury rendered a verdict of "Guilty of murder in the second degree." The Court then sentenced the prisoner to "Eleven years and nine months solitary confinement in the Western Penitentiary." At 2:40 p. m., on Friday, the Sheriff started with the prisoner for his future abode, where he is securely domiciled for the time specified in the sentence of the Court.....The Clearfied Agricultural Society, held its annual meeting for the election of officers to serve during the ensuing year, in the Court House, on Monday evening, January 9th 1871. Hon. G. R. Barrett, President; Justen J. Pie and R. W. McNaul, Vice Presidents; John W. Weaver, Treasurer; Levi F. Irvin, Recording Secretary, and Elisha Fenton, Corresponding Secretary, &c. What in the world they do with an Agricultural Society in Clearfield county, we have never been able to define. It is true they have Pie for Vice President and a Weaver for treasurer; but for apples to make their pies or for wool to keep their Weavers at work, they are compelled to come to old mother Centre. In fact they have to come to this county for all their great men, for instance Hon. Wm. Bigler, Cyrus Gordon, Esq., et al. Thank fortune coffee-pot Wallace is not a native of Centre.....The Republican, a Democratic paper says, our county prison has not been so near empty for several years. But one poor devil, Miller, besides the Sheriff and Jailor, now room there. He is from Knox township, and was put there by the School Board for non-payment of School tax. He is nearly naked, dirty and filthy, a sorry piece of humanity, indeed. Common Schools have evidently made but little inroad upon him in the way of refinement and good citizenship. The editor should remember that common schools do not have much effect upon Democrats, and if the editor persists in advocating British free trade in the future, as he has been doing in the past, he will have, to him no doubt, the extreme pleasure of seeing all his adherents and disciples idle, "dirty and filthy a sorry piece of humanity indeed" without shirts to their backs or a cent in their pockets. What a blessing it would be to the county, to the working men, to posterity, if all such false teachers as the Clearfield Republican would sink to rise no more.

☞DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, and CATARRH treated with the utmost success by, J. ISAACS M. D. and Professor of Diseases of the Eye and Ear, (his specialty) in the Medical College of Pennsylvania, 13 years experience, (formerly of Leyden, Holland,) No 805 Arch Street, Phila. Testimonials can be seen at his office. The medical faculty are invited to accompany their patients, as he has no secrets in his practice. Artificial eyes inserted without pain.
